Overall orientation

Mandates and background

- 11.1 The Office of the Special Adviser on Africa supports the Secretary-General in ensuring a coherent and integrated approach to United Nations support for Africa; promoting greater coherence in the work of the United Nations system and the African Union in support of Agenda 2063; following up on the implementation of all relevant global summit and conference outcomes of the United Nations relating to Africa; coordinating and guiding the preparation of Africa-related reports and input; initiating reports on critical issues affecting Africa; monitoring the implementation of Sustainable Development Goal commitments made towards Africa's development; and coordinating global advocacy in support of the African Union's Agenda 2063: The Africa We Want. The Economic Commission for Africa (ECA) is responsible for promoting the economic and social development of its member States, fostering intraregional integration and promoting international cooperation for the development of Africa. ECA is mandated to operate at the regional and subregional levels to harness United Nations assets and bring them to bear on Africa's priorities. ECA places a special focus on collecting up-to-date and original regional statistics in order to ground its policy research and advocacy in clear objective evidence; promoting policy consensus; and providing capacity development and advisory services. The Department of Global Communications raises international awareness of the economic, political and social situation in Africa, as well as the efforts made by Africa, the United Nations and the international community to promote the economic recovery and sustainable development of the region in pursuit of the goals of the New Partnership for Africa's Development (NEPAD) and the achievement of the Goals. The mandates of the Office, ECA and the Department derive from the priorities established in relevant resolutions and decisions, including General Assembly resolutions 32/197, 57/7, 57/300, 61/296, 66/293 and 76/236 and Economic and Social Council resolutions 671 (XXV) A and 1998/46.

Strategy and external factors for 2027

- 11.2 Over the past five years, the programme has developed robust analytical frameworks to examine development challenges in Africa through an integrated lens. The central challenge for 2027 is to translate this analytical foundation into policy solutions that address root causes, rather than short-term interventions that treat symptoms. Despite contributing less than 4 per cent of global greenhouse gas emissions, Africa faces climate adaptation costs that are projected to reach $50 billion annually by 2050, with 600 million people still lacking access to electricity. In addition, 307 million Africans, more than 20 per cent of the continent's population, faced hunger in 2024, while Africa's food import bill reached $97 billion in 2025 and climate change threatens to reduce crop yields by up to 30 per cent. Moreover, the continent records the world's lowest science, technology, engineering and mathematics enrolment rates, creating critical capacity gaps precisely when Africa needs technically skilled workers to develop solutions to achieve sustainable agricultural systems, resilient food value chains and just and inclusive energy transitions. Addressing these challenges in isolation produces limited results. The programme's strategy for 2027 recognizes that strategic investments in education, in particular in science, technology, engineering and mathematics and in science, technology and innovation, create the human capital necessary to innovate solutions, which in turn enable food systems transformation.
- 11.3 The implementation of the programme's strategy is guided by the vision of an empowered Africa that drives its own development to fulfil its potential as a continent of hope, opportunities and prosperity, with the support of the international system. The programme will further strengthen its data capacities and knowledge base, to feed advisory services, awareness-raising, communications and advocacy that mobilize the United Nations system, African Member States, international partners, civil society and the private sector at the global and regional levels with regard to the vision of the African Union and in support of the joint implementation of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development and Agenda 2063. In doing so, the programme will aim to foster improved coherence and synergies between the two agendas, through a consistent partnership on the basis of the strategic objectives of the second 10-year implementation plan of Agenda 2063.

- 11.4 The Office, ECA and the Department of Global Communications will continue to promote the new narrative through coordinated and complementary action in policy analysis and innovation, research and development, advocacy, communications, global and regional coordination, monitoring and evaluation and support for Member States. The strategic agenda, developed in consultation with the Group of African States and other stakeholders, continues to guide the programme activities in six cluster areas identified as key for Africa's development because of their multiplying impact: shifting the paradigm on financing for development; achieving sustainable development to deliver durable peace; governance, resilience and human capital; science, technology and innovation; industrialization, the demographic dividend and trade, with a focus on the African Continental Free Trade Area; and a balanced energy mix and climate adaptation. Considering the crucial role that young people play in the continent's development, special attention will be given to promoting youth-focused policies and proposals under each cluster area.
- 11.5 With regard to cooperation with other entities at the global, regional, national and local levels, the programme will continue to work closely with African Member States and African Union institutions as its main partners, in particular with the African Union Commission, the secretariat of the African Union Development Agency-NEPAD, the regional economic communities and the African Capacity-Building Foundation. The programme will also work closely with the African Peer Review Mechanism to advance the development goals of Africa and promote good governance, peace, security and sustainable development across the continent. The programme will continue to promote partnerships with an array of Member States, international organizations, civil society, the private sector, academia, think tanks and the African diaspora to enhance common approaches and synergies in their efforts to support Africa's development in the key areas identified in the programme's strategy.
- 11.6 With regard to inter-agency coordination and liaison, the programme will ensure strategic-level coordination among United Nations entities through the interdepartmental task force on African affairs by identifying priorities for building forward and building better, promoting results-based planning to develop the African Union-United Nations Framework for the Implementation of Agenda 2063 and the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development and monitoring the implementation of the agreed plans and priorities. The Regional Collaborative Platform for Africa will ensure operational-level coordination among United Nations entities in the field and with the resident coordinator system.
- 11.7 With regard to the external factors, the overall plan for 2027 is based on the following planning assumptions:
 - (a) African countries continue to guide their priorities towards implementing Agenda 2063;
 - (b) International partners continue to support Africa's sustainable development through financial contributions, technical support and policy frameworks that support African ownership and empowerment;
 - (c) The partnership between the United Nations and the African Union is further strengthened through the continued implementation of the Joint United Nations-African Union Framework for Enhanced Partnership in Peace and Security, the renewed approach to the African Union-United Nations Framework for the Implementation of Agenda 2063 and the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, and the African Union-United Nations Framework on Human Rights;
 - (d) International organizations and partners are committed to the implementation of multi-stakeholder projects and programmes in support of the 2030 Agenda, Agenda 2063 and the priorities of African countries;

- (e) United Nations entities actively engage in the interdepartmental task force on African affairs and the Regional Collaborative Platform for Africa;
 - (f) External stakeholders and potential partners, including media organizations, academic institutions, civil society organizations and creative communities, continue to engage with the programme's priorities;
 - (g) Member States and partners continue to advocate for and find joint solutions to mitigate the impacts of external shocks on Africa.
- 11.8 The programme integrates a gender perspective into its operational activities, deliverables and results, as appropriate, including through consultation with the United Nations Entity for Gender Equality and the Empowerment of Women (UN-Women), the African Union and specialized civil society organizations. Subprogramme 1 promotes inclusive programme delivery through its analytical and policy documents, as well as its advocacy activities. The Office collaborates with the African Women Leaders Network to support the participation and leadership of women in all areas of development and is working with the African Union to integrate a gender perspective into the African Union-United Nations strategic coordination process. Subprogramme 2 enables United Nations support for the implementation of the priorities of the African Union, including the use of sex-disaggregated statistics, and addressing challenges that have an effect on the employment of women. Subprogramme 3 promotes gender equality and the empowerment of women and girls by producing and disseminating communications products, through Africa Renewal platforms, that counter stereotypes and discrimination against women, and by promoting a balanced presence of women and men in all its multimedia products, promotional campaigns and events.
- 11.9 In line with the United Nations Disability Inclusion Strategy, the programme will promote analysis, policy recommendations and proposals that specifically foster the inclusion of persons with disabilities and will take the measures necessary to increase the accessibility of its products and events.

Adjustments arising from the UN80 Initiative

- 11.10 The proposed programme plan for 2027 reflects efforts of the programme to implement all mandates in a more efficient and effective manner and contains no substantive adjustments arising from the UN80 Initiative.
- 11.11 The programme will be guided by any future decisions taken in the context of the UN80 Initiative, in accordance with the applicable rules and procedures, including decisions, resolutions and established practice of the competent intergovernmental organs.

Programme of work

Subprogramme 1

Data and knowledge management for evidence-based policies and advocacy in support of Agenda 2063

Objective

- 11.14 The objective, to which this subprogramme contributes, is to advance effective implementation of the 2030 Agenda and Agenda 2063 through coherent, integrated and effective United Nations system engagement, global advocacy and strategic partnership with African Member States and the African Union.

Strategy

- 11.15 To contribute to the objective, the subprogramme will:
- Act as the focal point for the African Union Commission and its agencies at Headquarters; support enhanced collaboration between the United Nations system and the African Union Commission, regional economic communities, the African Union Development Agency-NEPAD, the African Peer Review Mechanism and other African Union communities; and contribute to strengthening the implementation of the African Union-United Nations Framework for the Implementation of Agenda 2063 and the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development;
 - Coordinate the interdepartmental task force on African affairs and monitor United Nations system support for Africa's sustainable development to promote strategic planning and programming in the United Nations system in Africa in accordance with the priorities of the African Union and African Member States as enshrined in Agenda 2063 and its second 10-year implementation plan;

- (c) Perform horizon scanning and analyse emerging trends, challenges and opportunities in the areas of strategic focus of the programme, as well as develop policy proposals to maximize opportunities and minimize and mitigate identified risks, through the management of data and knowledge, and promote policy innovation initiatives that have the potential to act as multiplier interventions to support Africa's sustainable development;
- (d) Assess commitments made toward Africa's development aligned with the 2030 Agenda and Agenda 2063, applying a cluster-based approach aimed at identifying challenges faced and, when appropriate, propose corrective measures;
- (e) Facilitate intergovernmental deliberations on issues relating to Africa's sustainable development and support African Member States in their participation in intergovernmental processes;
- (f) Develop and implement communication and global advocacy strategies in support of Agenda 2063, in coordination with subprogrammes 2 and 3;
- (g) Promote strategic partnerships with African Member States and African Union institutions, leveraging United Nations knowledge and capacities through technical cooperation with United Nations agencies, funds and programmes regarding flagship initiatives and projects;
- (h) Implement a fellowship programme for young African scholars and engage in new initiatives with partners to strengthen institutional capacities in policy analysis, design and monitoring.

11.16 The above-mentioned work is expected to result in:

- (a) Empowerment of African Member States to mobilize increased domestic resources for Africa's development and maximize their impact through targeted data and evidence-based policies;
- (b) Strengthened cooperation between the United Nations system and the African Union and other African institutions, as well as increased complementarity of their activities in support of the implementation of the 2030 Agenda and Agenda 2063;
- (c) A more coherent and integrated approach by the United Nations system support for Africa to challenges affecting Africa's development that includes and addresses existing gaps and leverages opportunities through impact-focused priorities with a multiplying impact;
- (d) Stronger alignment of intergovernmental discussions with the priorities of African countries and the African Union, as well as increased integration of African perspectives into global debates and decisions;
- (e) Greater accountability of stakeholders in the implementation of commitments to Agenda 2063 and the 2030 Agenda;
- (f) Increased awareness and understanding of the international community of the perspective of the African Union and the realities and priorities of African countries.

Programme performance in 2025

African policymakers applied integrated analytical approaches to promote long-term peace and development outcomes

- 11.17 In 2025, the subprogramme highlighted how long-term peace and development outcomes in Africa depend on a specific sequence of policy conditions, particularly sustainable financing and effective governance and strong institutions. To address persistent structural constraints, the subprogramme developed and operationalized an integrated analytical framework that clarifies how progress in peace, development, financing and governance is interdependent and why policy action must be interlinked to achieve durable results. Building on analytical work initiated in 2023, the framework was operationalized through an online training course launched in 2024, which equipped 100 policymakers and practitioners with practical skills to apply this analysis in their professional work.

An assessment conducted in 2025 showed that 78 per cent of participants had applied the approach to their professional work nine months after course completion.

11.18 Progress towards the objective is presented in the performance measure below (see table 11.2).

Planned results for 2027

Result 1: digital solutions to transform financial systems and manage debt in Africa

Programme performance in 2025 and target for 2027

11.19 The subprogramme's work contributed to the African Union adopting its Domestic Resource Mobilization Strategy 2025–2033, which met the planned target.

11.20 Progress towards the objective and the target for 2027 are presented in the performance measure below (see table 11.3).

Result 2: policy ecosystems to equip the workforce of Africa in a global digital economy

Programme performance in 2025 and target for 2027

- 11.21 The subprogramme's work contributed to eight African countries developing and operationalizing national strategies for youth employment, which met the planned target.
- 11.22 Progress towards the objective and the target for 2027 are presented in the performance measure below (see figure 11.I).

Performance measure: number of African countries that have developed and operationalized a national strategy for youth employment (cumulative)

Result 3: strengthened policy on youth education and skills development to address food insecurity and promote climate resilience in Africa

Proposed programme plan for 2027

- 11.23 Africa faces a converging challenge: food insecurity driven by adverse impacts of climate change is coinciding with a large proportion of youth who lack the skills needed to participate in productive, resilient livelihoods. Approximately 23 per cent of African youth are not in education, employment or training, limiting countries' ability to develop sustainable food systems and to adapt to adverse impacts of climate change. Without targeted interventions, this convergence threatens long-term food security, economic development and the capacity of communities to respond to future risks. The subprogramme has laid analytical foundations to address this challenge in its 2023, 2024 and 2025 analytical reports. Together, these reports provide the building blocks to connect youth skills development, climate resilience and food systems, guiding Member States on coherent policy design and intervention planning.

Lessons learned and planned change

- 11.24 The lesson for the subprogramme was that siloed policy approaches addressing education, climate or food security in isolation achieve limited impact. In applying the lesson, the subprogramme will employ its policy, advisory and advocacy capacities to promote integrated policy solutions that position education, human capital development and agricultural technology at the core of policies to promote climate resilience. The subprogramme will work with African Member States, the African Union Commission and education partners to promote technical and vocational training in climate resilience and sustainable agriculture, enhance digital literacy and advocate for and support policies that strengthen science, technology, engineering and mathematics education, as well as science, technology and innovation systems.
- 11.25 Expected progress towards the objective is presented in the performance measure below (see figure 11.II).

C. Substantive deliverables

Consultation, advice and advocacy: consultations and strategic-level coordination with African Union institutions; consultations on an annual results-oriented workplan for the interdepartmental task force on African affairs; evidence-based and data-driven advice and policy proposals provided to United Nations leadership and African Member States, including monthly briefings focused on trends, foresight and policy analysis, as well as quarterly briefings and materials in support of the participation of African Member States in intergovernmental processes; and advocacy products focused on the prioritization of policy proposals aimed at supporting Africa's transformational agenda, including panels, round tables and side events during the Economic and Social Council youth forum, the high-level political forum on sustainable development and other major United Nations conferences aimed at an audience of approximately 200 participants (government and academia) for each advocacy event, and at least 4 advocacy videos; collaborative analytical outputs with African think tanks and academic institutions.

Databases and substantive digital materials: online knowledge repository with digital copies of the work of the Office of the Special Adviser on Africa in multiple official languages of the United Nations; United Nations monitoring mechanism database; data on United Nations action in Africa made available to complement the Office's reporting mandate; and online country dashboards for African members of the Security Council and the Peacebuilding Commission.

D. Communication deliverables

Outreach programmes, special events and information materials: awareness-raising events, including the Africa's Youth Voices initiative; and outreach campaigns, including audiovisual materials on key issues affecting Africa's sustainable development.

External and media relations: press releases, press conferences and media dialogues on issues relating to Africa's sustainable development, peace and security and human rights in Africa.

Digital platforms and multimedia content: Office of the Special Adviser on Africa website and social media with updated content in multiple official languages of the United Nations; multimedia documents in various United Nations official languages; and communication and multimedia content that meets the full accessibility standards issued by the Office.

Subprogramme 2

Regional coordination of United Nations support for the integrated implementation of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development and Agenda 2063

Objective

- 11.27 The objective, to which this subprogramme contributes, is to accelerate the integrated implementation of Agenda 2063 and the 2030 Agenda through United Nations system-wide coherence and collaboration and to enhance capacities of African Union organs and agencies, in particular the African Union Commission, the African Union Development Agency-NEPAD and the regional economic communities, at the regional and subregional levels.

Strategy

- 11.28 To contribute to the objective, the subprogramme will:
- (a) Conduct policy research and analysis on African Union priorities and transboundary issues relevant to Africa's regional transformation and integration, and disseminate the findings across the five subregions of Africa;
 - (b) Provide technical assistance and advisory services within the framework of Agenda 2063 and the 2030 Agenda, taking into consideration the United Nations-African Union cooperation frameworks and the African Union strategic priorities, including the second 10-year implementation plan of Agenda 2063;
 - (c) Support the African Union Development Agency-NEPAD in the context of continental priorities in collaboration with subprogrammes 1 and 2, and build the capacity of subregional entities to formulate strategies for the integrated implementation of development priorities of regional economic communities and intergovernmental organizations in collaboration with ECA subprogrammes;

- (d) Work under the architecture of the Regional Collaborative Platform for Africa, with the opportunity and issue-based coalitions, to promote coherent United Nations system-wide support for the African Union and for resident coordinators and United Nations country teams towards the realization of Agenda 2063 and the 2030 Agenda.

11.29 The above-mentioned work is expected to result in:

- (a) Increased and more effective United Nations support for the African Union and its development priorities as reflected in Agenda 2063;
- (b) Development and implementation by Member States of their national development priorities, aligned with global and regional frameworks on sustainable development.

Programme performance in 2025

Domestic resource mobilization strategy adopted to finance the second 10-year implementation plan of Agenda 2063

11.30 Agenda 2063 sets out Africa's long-term vision for inclusive growth and sustainable development, which can be realized only through robust and sustainable financing. Domestic resource mobilization is central to this vision, as it provides the financial foundation needed to translate continental aspirations into concrete results at the national and regional levels. As a member of the Agenda 2063 technical working group, the subprogramme provided technical and advisory advice and facilitated inclusive, multi-stakeholder consultations with an emphasis on sustainable financing, innovation and inclusion. These efforts culminated in the development and validation in 2025 of the Domestic Resource Mobilization Strategy for the second 10-year implementation plan of Agenda 2063. The strategy was subsequently endorsed by the Executive Council of the African Union at the 2025 mid-year coordination meeting, marking a significant milestone in advancing the objectives of Agenda 2063.

11.31 Progress towards the objective is presented in the performance measure below (see table 11.5).

Performance measure

2023 (actual)	2024 (actual)	2025 (actual)
–	The African Union decided to develop a domestic resource mobilization strategy as an enabler of the second 10-year implementation plan of Agenda 2063 (2024–2033)	The African Union Domestic Resource Mobilization Strategy for the second 10-year implementation plan of Agenda 2063 was endorsed by the Executive Council of the African Union

Planned results for 2027

Result 1: long-term strategies for debt management in Africa

Programme performance in 2025 and target for 2027

11.32 The subprogramme's work did not meet the planned target of two ECA member States developing longer-term strategies to manage debt in an integrated manner. The target was not met as efforts were focused on analytical and technical support for the development of the Domestic Resource Mobilization Strategy, as outlined in para 11.30 above.

- 11.33 Progress towards the objective and the target for 2027 are presented in the performance measure below (see figure 11.III).

Performance measure: number of Economic Commission for Africa member States that develop longer-term strategies to manage debt in an integrated manner (annual)

Result 2: strengthened responsiveness and accountability of public institutions

Programme performance in 2025 and target for 2027

- 11.34 The subprogramme's work contributed to one member State (Liberia) launching an initiative to modernize public services through digital technology, improve tax revenue collection and strengthen anti-corruption measures, which met the planned target.
- 11.35 Progress towards the objective and the target for 2027 are presented in the performance measure below (see figure 11.IV).

Performance measure: number of national initiatives launched by member States to strengthen responsiveness and accountability of public institutions (cumulative)

Result 3: African Member States develop policies to address the impacts of climate change

Proposed programme plan for 2027

- 11.36 Africa faces multiple challenges, including escalating adverse impacts of climate change and persistent financing, capacity and coordination gaps that constrain progress towards sustainable development priorities and climate adaptation. To address these gaps, the subprogramme has supported key continental platforms such as the Africa Regional Forum on Sustainable Development and the second Africa Climate Summit, which provided important opportunities to advance policy dialogue, knowledge-sharing and coordinated action on energy access, market mechanisms for emission reduction activities and financing for climate action.

Lessons learned and planned change

- 11.37 The lesson for the subprogramme was the need to sustain multi-stakeholder engagement through continuous and structured dialogue platforms, as coordinated approaches make it possible to better align priorities, leverage diverse expertise and deliver greater value to Member States. In applying the lesson, the subprogramme will strengthen its facilitation role by promoting more frequent and integrated planning sessions and will enhance information-sharing, joint programming and results monitoring. This will enable the subprogramme to provide coherent, demand-driven support to Member States, with a view to addressing the impacts of climate change and making progress towards achieving sustainable development priorities.
- 11.38 Expected progress towards the objective is presented in the performance measure below (see figure 11.V).

Subprogramme 3

Public information and awareness activities in support of Agenda 2063

Objective

- 11.40 The objective, to which this subprogramme contributes, is to achieve the informed understanding and engagement of a global audience in support of the economic, political and social development of Africa.

Strategy

- 11.41 To contribute to the objective, the subprogramme will:
- (a) Develop global comprehensive editorial activities on priority issues affecting Africa, including by generating support in Africa and beyond for the African Union Development Agency-NEPAD and the implementation of Agenda 2063 and the 2030 Agenda, as well as the work of subprogrammes 1 and 2 and their advocacy strategies. This is under the umbrella of the strategy of the Africa Section of the Department of Global Communications and in line with the global communications strategy;

- (b) Produce external communications content and engagement activities, including through the Africa Renewal digital platforms, media advisories and other public information opportunities, for use by external media, both African and international, academia and civil society groups, and provide external communications support to the Office;
 - (c) Produce or translate select content into languages such as French and Kiswahili.
- 11.42 The above-mentioned work is expected to result in enhanced awareness of key thematic issues of the United Nations, the African Union Development Agency-NEPAD and other stakeholders and partners on issues relating to economic and sustainable development in Africa.

Programme performance in 2025

Media partnership with a reach of 130 million highlights African perspectives on artificial intelligence and digital employment

- 11.43 In September 2025, on the sidelines of the General Assembly high-level week, the subprogramme collaborated with African and global media partners to organize high-level discussions on themes relevant to the African continent. The week culminated in a televised town hall on artificial intelligence and the future of jobs in Africa, which was produced in collaboration with British Broadcasting Corporation (BBC) News Africa and was broadcast on BBC World and BBC domestic and online channels, which together reach an estimated 130 million people across the African continent. The broadcast explored how artificial intelligence, technology and digitization can drive job creation, skills development and economic empowerment for young people in Africa, helping them to thrive in an increasingly competitive global marketplace. The town hall built on a successful partnership with BBC Africa, which was first developed on the sidelines of the Summit of the Future in 2024. Through this media partnership, youth representatives from the continent, ministers and United Nations officials worked together to discuss employment opportunities for African youth in the digital age.
- 11.44 Progress towards the objective is presented in the performance measure below (see table 11.7).

Planned results for 2027

Result 1: engagement of the general public on Africa's debt burden and potential solutions

Programme performance in 2025 and target for 2027

- 11.45 The subprogramme's work contributed to more than 95,000 views generated for 34 articles and multimedia content, which exceeded the planned target of 57,000 views.
- 11.46 Progress towards the objective and the target for 2027 are presented in the performance measure below (see figure 11.VI).

Performance measure: increased engagement of the general public on Africa's debt burden and potential solutions (annual)

Result 2: strengthened outreach by media partners on education, decent jobs and social protection in Africa

Programme performance in 2025 and target for 2027

- 11.47 The subprogramme's work contributed to 10 media partners being engaged in the distribution of Africa Renewal content, which met the planned target.
- 11.48 Progress towards the objective and the target for 2027 are presented in the performance measure below (see figure 11.VII).

Result 3: increased visibility of youth-led solutions for climate resilience

Proposed programme plan for 2027

- 11.49 The subprogramme has been working to highlight profiles of young people in the development of innovative solutions for climate action and resilience across various platforms, using multiple modalities. These profiles aim to elevate youth voices, showcasing their work across various platforms and high-profile events to reach a wider audience. They have encompassed a wide range of topics, including sustainable infrastructure, food security and employment.

Lessons learned and planned change

11.50 The lesson for the subprogramme was to strategically target partners and to co-create audiovisual narratives for digital platforms. In applying this lesson, the subprogramme will build pan-African partnerships with youth groups, media outlets and events to amplify youth-led innovations, with a specific focus on solutions that drive both climate action and youth employment. The subprogramme will develop partnerships with civil society and academia and create outreach activities to increase the visibility of youth-led solutions on the African continent.

11.51 Expected progress towards the objective is presented in the performance measure below (see figure 11.VIII).
