A. Proposed programme plan for 2027 and programme performance in 2025

Overall orientation

Mandates and background

- 30.1 The Office of Internal Oversight Services (OIOS) is responsible for assisting the Secretary-General in fulfilling his internal oversight responsibilities in respect of the resources and staff of the Organization through the provision of internal audit, inspection and evaluation, and investigation services. The mandate derives from the priorities established in relevant General Assembly resolutions and decisions, including resolutions 48/218 B, 54/244, 59/272, 64/263, 69/253 and 79/282. The Office will continue to maintain its operational independence in carrying out its objectives. The Independent Audit Advisory Committee provides the Office with advice to strengthen the programme's risk-based planning and budgeting.

Strategy and external factors for 2027

- 30.2 In support of the Secretary-General's focus on building a more sustainable and inclusive future and on reforming the Organization to better deliver against this vision, the strategy for 2027 prioritizes internal oversight coverage of the work of the Organization in the following management areas: (a) implementation of the reforms of the management, peace and security, and development pillars; (b) strengthening of organizational culture; (c) procurement and supply chain management, including management of fraud and corruption risks; (d) management of mission drawdown or transition; and (e) strengthening of the protection against retaliation (whistle-blower) system. The Office will also continue to cover the programmes and strategies of the Organization, including cross-cutting areas such as the provision of support to Member States on the achievement of the Sustainable Development Goals and the Pact for the Future, as well as the implementation of the Secretary-General's strategies on gender equality, racial equality, environmental sustainability, disability inclusion and data.
- 30.3 Effective engagement with the senior leadership of the Organization will help the programme to identify risks to the Organization and provide timely assurance and advice on issues relating to the efficient, economical, effective and ethical management of the Organization's resources.
- 30.4 The Office will strengthen the delivery of its mandated activities by: (a) strengthening the use of enterprise risk management in planning internal audit and evaluation and inspection activities (subprogrammes 1 and 2); (b) enhancing the methodology for measuring the impact of audit recommendations (subprogramme 1); (c) enhancing guidance for thematic and outcome evaluations of programmes (subprogramme 2); and (d) enhancing guidance on using data analytics to improve investigation planning and the timeliness of investigations (subprogramme 3).
- 30.5 With regard to cooperation with other entities at the global, regional, national and local levels, the Office will consult closely on its programme of work with the Board of Auditors and the Joint Inspection Unit and liaise, as appropriate, with relevant offices involved in the internal justice system of the Organization.
- 30.6 With regard to inter-agency coordination and liaison, the Office will share knowledge on good practices and innovations in oversight methodologies with the other internal oversight functions of the United Nations system through the meetings of the Representatives of Internal Audit Services of the United Nations Organizations, the United Nations Representatives of Investigative Services and the United Nations Evaluation Group.
- 30.7 With regard to the external factors, the overall plan for 2027 is based on the planning assumption that the Office will have unimpeded access to the staff and records of the Organization and other required information.

- 30.8 The Office integrates a gender perspective into its operational activities, deliverables and results, as appropriate. Subprogrammes 1 and 2 will cover the management of risks relating to mainstreaming a gender perspective. Subprogramme 3 will continue to integrate a gender perspective into its victim-centred methodology for all investigations, including sexual exploitation and abuse and workplace sexual harassment.
- 30.9 In line with the United Nations Disability Inclusion Strategy, the Office will further advance disability inclusion by covering the management of risks relating to implementation of the Strategy.

Adjustments arising from the UN80 Initiative

- 30.10 The proposed programme plan for 2027 reflects changes arising from the UN80 Initiative. In particular, the tables of deliverables reflect updated deliverables for 2026, in line with the approved programme budget for 2026.
- 30.11 OIOS will be guided by any future decisions taken in the context of the UN80 Initiative, in accordance with the applicable rules and procedures, including decisions, resolutions and established practice of the competent intergovernmental organs. This includes, among others, any decisions concerning proposals to strengthen and harmonize mechanisms to manage for results across the United Nations system, including how results are measured and communicated. OIOS will consider the UN80 Initiative as an important input for focus areas to be considered for inclusion in its programme of work for 2027.

Evaluation activities

- 30.14 The OIOS-commissioned quality assessments of the three OIOS functions (investigations, internal audit, and inspection and evaluation) have guided the proposed programme plan for 2027. The capping review is expected to be completed in 2026.
- 30.15 In response to the results of the quality assessments referenced above, OIOS has implemented improvements aimed at enhancing efficiency and effectiveness in areas such as work planning, the use of information and communications technology (ICT) to monitor and report on programme performance, and quality assurance and internal control.

Programme of work

Subprogramme 1

Internal audit

Objective

- 30.16 The objective, to which this subprogramme contributes, is to improve the efficiency, economy, effectiveness and impact of the Organization's programmes, in keeping with best management practices.

Strategy

- 30.17 To contribute to the objective, the subprogramme will:
- Conduct internal audit activities to recommend improvements to key controls and processes and identify accountability issues, with a strengthened focus on providing assurance regarding the effectiveness and efficiency of programme performance monitoring and reporting, as well as the organizational capabilities required for Secretariat entities to implement their mandates more effectively and efficiently;

- (b) Support the efforts undertaken by the Department of Management Strategy, Policy and Compliance to strengthen the United Nations Secretariat accountability system, through assurance and advice to the Department;
- (c) Focus on data governance and data security in the use of ICT in the Organization;
- (d) Strengthen annual work-planning processes by identifying and monitoring audit assignments that systematically cover United Nations cross-cutting priorities in the management, programme and strategy areas (including reforms, organizational culture, procurement and supply chain, mission drawdown or transition and Sustainable Development Goal support) and take into consideration a gender perspective, disability inclusion, racism, human rights and the environment, as appropriate;
- (e) Implement recommendations resulting from the quality assessment of the internal audit function.

30.18 The above-mentioned work is expected to result in:

- (a) Strengthened accountability and transparency in the use of resources by United Nations organizations and entities;
- (b) Improved risk identification and mitigation by United Nations organizations and entities;
- (c) High quality of internal audit assurance provided to the Secretary-General, heads of organizations and entities and Member States on the adequacy and effectiveness of risk management and internal control systems.

Programme performance in 2025

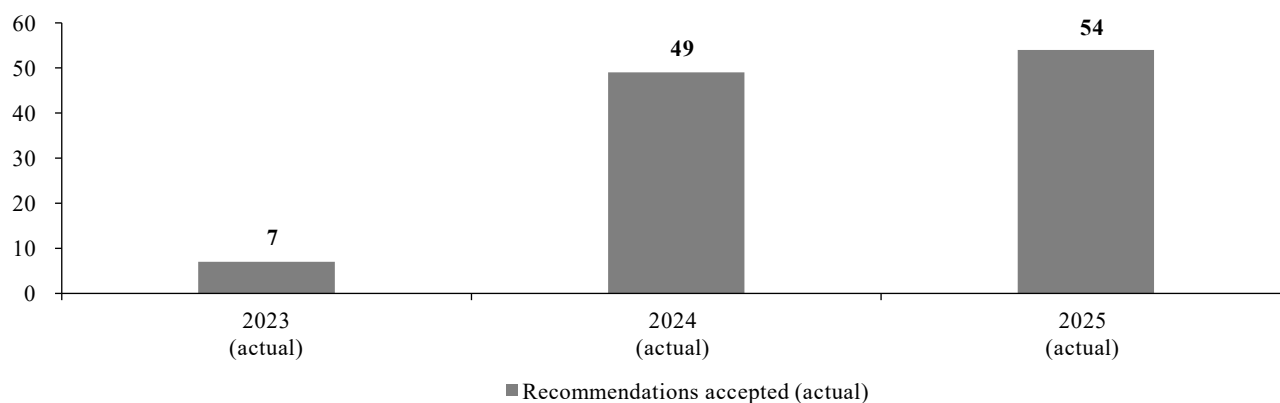

Strengthened accountability regarding staff time and attendance

30.19 To support the Secretary-General in fulfilling his internal oversight responsibilities for the Organization's resources and staff, the subprogramme, in 2025, completed a series of seven thematic audits of time and attendance management containing 54 recommendations aimed at strengthening the governance of time and attendance management by promoting awareness and consistent policy interpretation, systematically tracking non-compliance trends and enhancing timely corrective action by entities. The audits also contained recommendations to recover approximately $1.4 million in overpayments, related mostly to danger pay, and resulted in an advisory report highlighting control failures and financial exposure resulting from the inadequate implementation of existing policies and systems.

30.20 Progress towards the objective is presented in the performance measure below (see figure 30.I).

Performance measure: cumulative audit recommendations accepted that strengthen accountability regarding staff time and attendance

Planned results for 2027

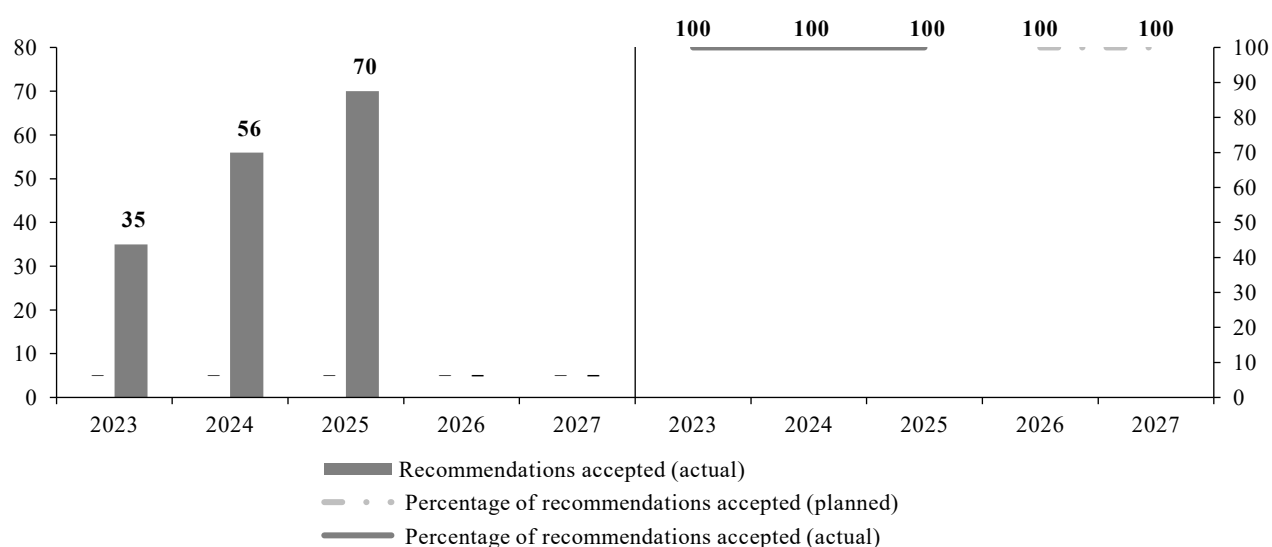

Result 1: strengthened monitoring systems to improve performance management to support programme delivery

Programme performance in 2025 and target for 2027

- 30.21 The subprogramme's work contributed to the completion of 36 audit assignments and the issuance of 70 recommendations relating to strengthening performance management monitoring systems that were all accepted by the relevant programme managers, which met the planned target.
- 30.22 Progress towards the objective and the target for 2027 are presented in the performance measure below (see figure 30.II).

- 30.23 The subprogramme's work contributed to the completion of seven audit assignments and the issuance of 47 recommendations aimed at strengthening the organizational capabilities of entities that were all accepted by the relevant programme managers, which met the planned target.
- 30.24 Progress towards the objective and the target for 2027 are presented in the performance measure below (see figure 30.III).

Performance measure: audit recommendations accepted that strengthen organizational capabilities in innovation, data analytics, digital transformation, strategic foresight and behavioural science (annual)

Result 3: increased efficiencies in the administration of the Organization

Proposed programme plan for 2027

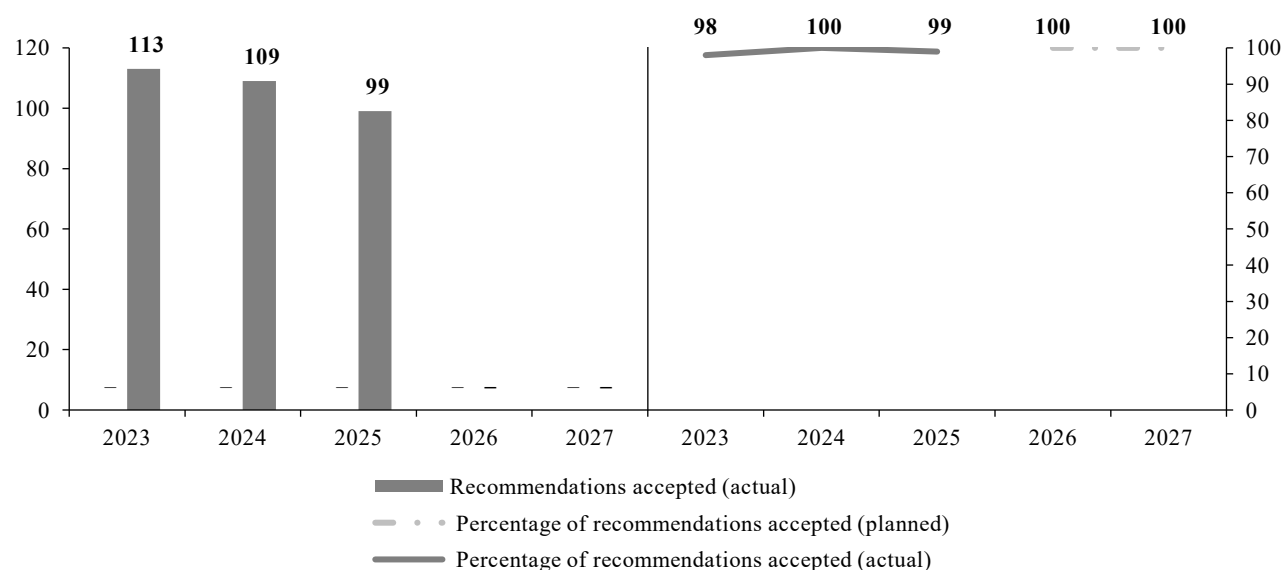

- 30.25 The internal audit function is an independent and objective assurance and advisory activity designed to add value and improve the Organization's operations. The subprogramme conducts internal audit activities, including by examining changes to management structures and operations, in order to recommend improvements to key controls and processes for improvements aimed at increasing efficiencies in implementing mandates.

Lessons learned and planned change

- 30.26 The lesson for the subprogramme, informed by several rounds of reforms aimed at modernizing structures, reducing duplication and streamlining administrative and operational support, was that assessing operational efficiency had become critical in the context of budgetary constraints and liquidity crises faced by the Organization. In applying the lesson, the subprogramme will focus on assessing efficiency enhancement measures and identifying any further opportunities to simplify processes, reduce administrative burden and strengthen coherence among structures and programmes.
- 30.27 Expected progress towards the objective is presented in the performance measure below (see figure 30.IV).

Subprogramme 2 Inspection and evaluation

Objective

30.29 The objective, to which this subprogramme contributes, is to strengthen relevance, efficiency, effectiveness and impact in the implementation of programmes and legislative mandates of the Organization and improve decision-making, accountability and learning.

Strategy

30.30 To contribute to the objective, the subprogramme will:

- (a) Focus, in conducting evaluations, on programmatic results and outcomes achieved by Secretariat entities in the areas of the peace and security, sustainable development, human rights and humanitarian assistance;
- (b) Support accountability for programme improvement through the monitoring of the implementation of evaluation recommendations and their outcomes;
- (c) Integrate the Secretary-General's cross-cutting strategies into evaluation design and implementation;
- (d) Refine its inspection and evaluation methodology and further develop and strengthen evaluation design and data collection and analysis methods;
- (e) Provide evaluation methodological guidance and quality assurance support to Secretariat entities and to the wider Organization, including through collaboration with the Department of Management Strategy, Policy and Compliance, and by developing and implementing community of practice workshops, methodology seminars and other capacity-building measures;
- (f) Enhance evaluation knowledge-sharing through the production of the biennial report on strengthening evaluation, as well as evaluation newsletters and evaluation synthesis reports;
- (g) Support system-wide evaluation through collaboration with the United Nations Sustainable Development Group System-wide Evaluation Office.

30.31 The above-mentioned work is expected to result in:

- (a) Increased learning and accountability of Secretariat entities towards achieving their planned programmatic outcomes;
- (b) Strengthened evaluation capacity and performance, and greater use of evaluation findings to inform programme design planning and the achievement of results within the Organization.

Programme performance in 2025

Strengthened self-evaluation capacity in the Secretariat

30.32 Self-evaluation is an important component of the Secretariat architecture for assessing programme performance and results, which has become increasingly more critical in the context of recent organizational changes. Over the years, the subprogramme has provided methodological and technical support and guidance regarding evaluations to Secretariat entities, with an objective to strengthen their own skills and capacity for conducting self-assessments of their performance and results. In 2025, the subprogramme provided consultations to the Economic Commission for Africa on conducting evaluation on the outcome of its work on building national statistical systems. It also supported the Office of Disarmament Affairs in developing a theory of change to inform its evaluation of the administrative support that it provides to the Conference on Disarmament.

30.33 Progress towards the objective is presented in the performance measure below (see table 30.3).

Planned results for 2027

Result 1: strengthening the resident coordinator system

Programme performance in 2025 and target for 2027

- 30.34 The subprogramme's work contributed to a more effective resident coordinator system through independent evaluations that assessed the outcomes achieved and lessons learned, resulting in recommendations accepted by the Development Coordination Office, which met the planned target.
- 30.35 Progress towards the objective and the target for 2027 are presented in the performance measure below (see table 30.4).

Result 2: enhanced programme outcomes

Programme performance in 2025 and target for 2027

- 30.36 The subprogramme's work contributed to enhanced programme performance in the five broad focus areas of the Pact for the Future through 11 evaluation, inspection and synthesis reports, which exceeded the planned target of 9 evaluation, inspection and synthesis reports.
- 30.37 Progress towards the objective and the target for 2027 are presented in the performance measure below (see table 30.5).

Result 3: better mandate implementation through enhanced programme planningProposed programme plan for 2027

- 30.38 Programme planning remains a critical enabler for efficient and effective mandate implementation. The subprogramme has begun to assess more critically Secretariat entities' modalities of mandate implementation to determine whether programmes have been planned and deployed to achieve programmatic results in the most efficient and effective manner.

Lessons learned and planned change

- 30.39 The lesson for the subprogramme was the need to strengthen its approach for conducting evaluations with a more strategic and deliberate focus on how Secretariat entities are designing their modalities of mandate implementation in order to achieve outcomes. In applying the lesson, the subprogramme will strengthen its evaluation and inspection methods and approaches to provide more robust assessments of the efficient and effective implementation of programme modalities. An enhanced assessment of programme planning will contribute to the greater acceptance of recommendations in order to strengthen that planning process.
- 30.40 Expected progress towards the objective is presented in the performance measure below (see figure 30.V).

Subprogramme 3 Investigations

Objective

30.42 The objective, to which this subprogramme contributes, is to enhance accountability and ethical behaviour within the Organization.

Strategy

30.43 To contribute to the objective, the subprogramme will:

- (a) Receive and record all complaints of possible violations of United Nations regulations, rules and pertinent administrative policies, and decide whether they warrant OIOS investigation or some other action;
- (b) Investigate reports of possible violations of United Nations regulations, rules and pertinent administrative policies;
- (c) Enable the prevention of and response to complaints of misconduct, including: (i) sexual misconduct, including sexual exploitation and abuse, as well as sexual harassment; and (ii) fraud and corruption, including procurement fraud and medical insurance fraud;
- (d) Support the investigative capacity and capability of: (i) members of troop contingents who are responsible for undertaking investigations into misconduct; and (ii) officials who are responsible for the appointment of investigative panels or entities into misconduct.

30.44 The above-mentioned work is expected to result in:

- (a) Improved ability of the Secretary-General and his delegates to make appropriate decisions on jurisdictional or disciplinary action or corrective measures;
- (b) Improved ability of United Nations entities to identify and address misconduct;
- (c) Improved detection of issues and better control of risks such as sexual exploitation and abuse, sexual harassment, racial discrimination, fraud and corruption.

Programme performance in 2025

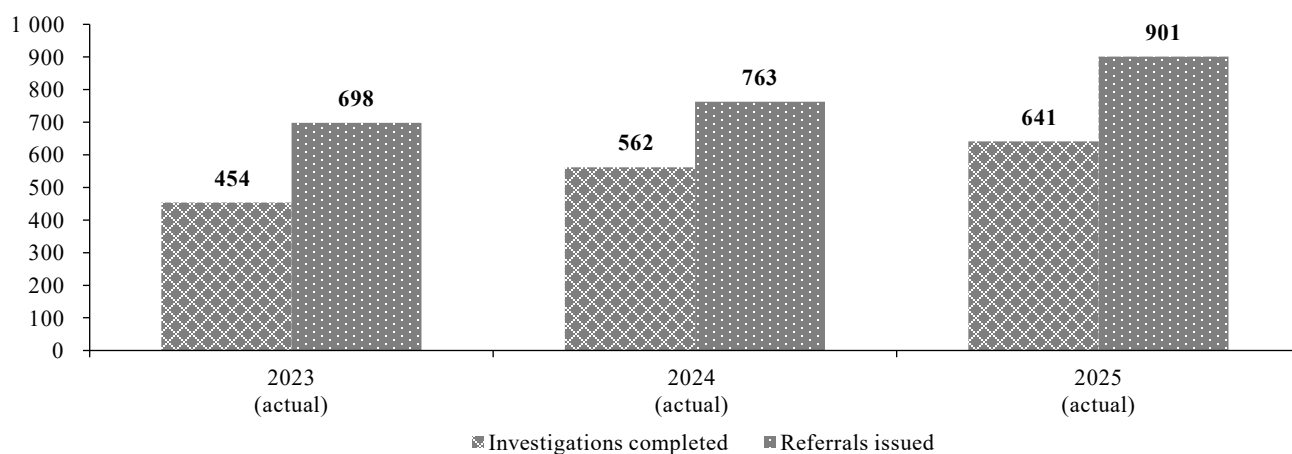

The Organization's ability to protect its resources and hold its personnel accountable strengthened

30.45 The subprogramme responded to an increase in the number of allegations of misconduct reported to OIOS by opening and completing a corresponding higher number of investigations, which, in turn, informed subsequent corrective action taken by the Organization to protect its financial and human resources and hold its personnel accountable. In 2025, the subprogramme completed 641 investigations and opened 595 new investigations. In addition, the subprogramme referred 901 matters to responsible officials within and outside of the Secretariat, to enable the Organization to address reports of unsatisfactory conduct in the most appropriate and efficient way.

30.46 Progress towards the objective is presented in the performance measure below (see figure 30.VI).

Performance measure: number of allegations of misconduct addressed through investigations or referral (annual)

Planned results for 2027

Result 1: strengthened response to misconduct investigations requiring a victim-centred response

Programme performance in 2025 and target for 2027

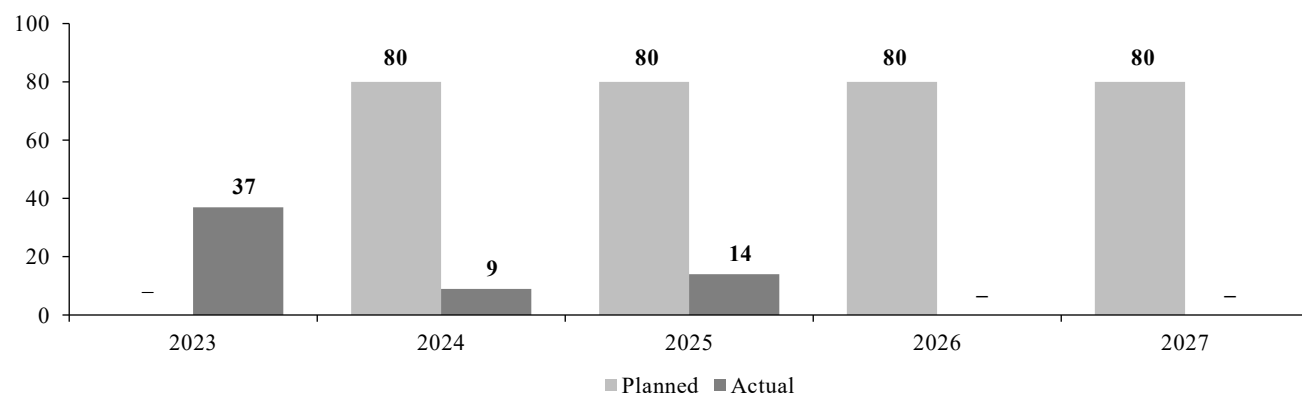

30.47 The subprogramme's work contributed to 14 per cent of investigations into allegations of sexual exploitation and abuse being completed within the target of six months, which did not meet the planned target of 80 per cent. The target was not met owing to several factors, including a high volume of new investigations in 2025 and backlog from previous years, the complexity of investigations, which often required deoxyribonucleic acid forensic analysis, as well as delays in investigations conducted jointly with national authorities, whose procedures and timelines differ from those of the Organization.

30.48 Progress towards the objective and the target for 2027 are presented in the performance measure below (see figure 30.VII).

Performance measure: OIOS investigations of sexual exploitation and abuse completed within six months

(Percentage)

Result 2: improved handling of and timely decision-making on misconduct complaints

Programme performance in 2025 and target for 2027

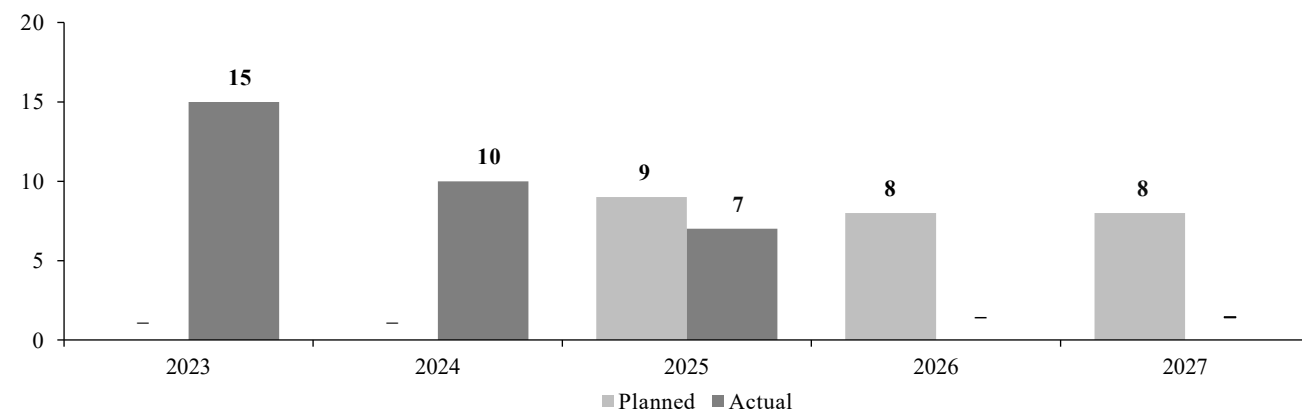

30.49 The subprogramme's work contributed to the timely handling of incoming complaints of possible misconduct being completed within seven days, which exceeded the planned target of nine days.

30.50 Progress towards the objective and the target for 2027 are presented in the performance measure below (see figure 30.VIII).

Performance measure: timely handling of misconduct complaints (annual)

(Number of days for case to be created after report was made)

Result 3: timely investigation of cases with a potential financial loss to the Organization

Proposed programme plan for 2027

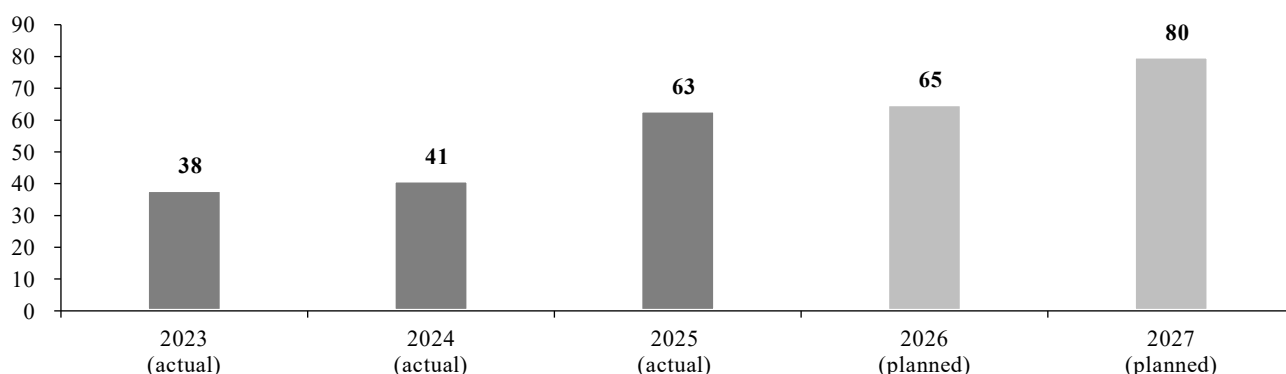

30.51 The timely handling of reports of possible misconduct that could entail financial losses to the Organization helps to safeguard its resources and enables the recovery of any accrued losses. Fraud and corruption remain the most frequent categories of misconduct investigated by OIOS, and such investigations are prioritized owing to the high risk posed by fraud and corruption to the Organization.

Lessons learned and planned change

- 30.52 The lesson for the subprogramme was that the timely handling of reports of misconduct with potential financial implications was important because, the longer cases remained open, the greater the risk that implicated individuals might leave the Organization or dissipate assets, making recovery increasingly difficult. This was recently illustrated by a cluster of interconnected insurance fraud cases linked to a broader scheme, in which timeliness was critical, given that unnecessary delays might have compromised the availability and integrity of financial and ICT evidence. In applying the lesson, the subprogramme will prioritize investigations involving potential financial loss, recognizing that prompt action is essential to limit losses and strengthen recovery prospects. The subprogramme will adopt a new timeliness target: completion of at least 65 per cent of such investigations within 12 months in 2026, increasing to 80 per cent in 2027.
- 30.53 Expected progress towards the objective is presented in the performance measure below (see figure 30.IX).
